Description

Acheta is the leading company in food, based on insects production. We take care of the whole process of growing crickets and creating products ourselves, so we pay the greatest attention to every detail. When growing and processing crickets, we use the most advanced technologies, thanks to which the nutrients contained in crickets are preserved to the maximum. Of course, we pay our attention to taste as well! We seek for our products to be diverse – you will find products in our assortment with natural, spicy and even exotic taste. Our goal is to produce the best sustainable products on the market.
